Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone, fax, web site, email or post. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on January 15, 2009.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you after the closing date, January 15, 2009.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any bids.

1. MYSIA, CYZICUS; EL Hekte, c. 500-450 BC, 2.65g., Von Fritz-114. Obv: Warrior, nude, kneeling left, holding helmet in his right hand and sword in his left; Rx: Quadripartite incuse square. Ex LHS 100, April 23-24, 2007, lot 289, Ex Roland Maly Collection, Ex Michel Dürr Collection 1972. Beautiful image of archaic warrior. About EF .....5500
2. LESBOS, MYTILENE; EL Hekte, 377-326 BC, 2.56g. Obv: Laureate head of Apollo, Rx: Amazon in linear square. VF .....850
4. MYSIA, LAMPSACUS; Stater, c. 394-350 BC, 8.45g., Baldwin-33 (b-c), pl. iii, 15-16 (same obverse die). SNG Paris-1145. Gulbenkian-694. Obv: Head of Actaeon left, with stag's horn, Rx: Forepart of winged horse monster right. Actaeon was a hunter who happened upon the goddess Artemis as she was bathing in a pool in the forest. Although his sacrifice was accidental, the goddess was implacable: she turned Actaeon into a stag and then caused his own hounds to tear him limb from limb. The Lampsacene rendering of Actaeon, in contrast to that of Athena above, emphasizes decorative lines over three-dimensionality. This coin, indeed this very specimen, while not one of the entries in the 100 Greatest Ancient Coins book, is pictured in the forward by David MacDonald, on the back dustcover, and in the frontispiece of the appendix and collector resources on page 119. When asked for extra images of wonderful ancient coins, we sent this without comment. Whitman chose to use it in three different places in their book and also on their advertising poster as the central part of a coin collage. A few minuscule contact marks on neck of Pegasus on reverse. Obverse struck in high relief. This is, in my opinion, the most beautiful ancient gold coin that I have handled. Mint State .....245000
5. PHILIP II; 359-336 BC, Stater, Pella II, c. 340-328 or 336-328 BC, 8.52g., Le Rider-116 (D55/R86). Obv: Head of Apollo r.; Rx: Galloping biga r., thunderbolt symbol in field below horses. Near EF/EF with luster .....3500

Obv: Diademed and veiled head of deified Arsinoe II, Rx: Double cornucopia filled with fruit and bound with fillets. Beautiful early style. Hairline graffiti in left reverse field. 7. PTOLEMY II PHILADELPHUS; 285-246 BC, Mnaeion or One-Mina Piece (formerly Octadrachm), Alexandria, c. 253/2-246 BC, 27.80g., Sv-460, Pl. XV, 12; Troxell, Group III, p.43, Pl. 6,3 (these dies). Obv: Diademed and veiled head of deified Arsinoe II, Rx: Double Cornucopia filled with fruit and bound with fillets. Struck in relatively high relief. No flaws. Mint State .....13750
8. PTOLEMY IV, PHILOPATOR; 221-205 BC, Mnaeion or One-Mina Piece (formerly Octadrachm), Alexandria, c. 217 BC, 27.87g., Sv-1117, SNG Cop-196. Obv: Radiate and diademed bust of deified Ptolemy III wearing aegis with trident resting on his shoulder, Rx: Radiate cornucopia bound with royal diadem, regal title around. Around the time of the Fourth Syrian War, Ptolemy IV had these gold coins struck in memory of his father, to commemorate the great victories over the

Seleucids in the Third Syrian War. Previous to the battle in order to promote victory, the Queen, Arsinoe III, promised two gold minae for each soldier if the Ptolemaic army was successful. Following the victory, as recorded in the Raphia Decree, one-mina coins of this type were undoubtedly given. Beautiful image of the deified king. Struck in high relief. Very minor areas of flatness at the highest point of the crown and some die rust in between the rays of the crown. Mint State .....19750

9. PTOLEMY IV, PHILOPATOR; 221-205 BC, Mnaeion or One-Mina Piece (formerly Octadrachm), Alexandria, c. 217 BC, 27.79g., Sv-1117, SNG Cop-196. Obv: Radiate and diademed bust of deified Ptolemy III wearing aegis with trident resting on his shoulder, Rx: Radiate cornucopia bound with royal diadem regal title around. Around the time of the Fourth Syrian War, Ptolemy IV had these gold coins struck in memory of his father, to commemorate the great victories over the Seleucids in the Third Syrian War. Previous to the battle in order to promote victory, the Queen, Arsinoe III, promised two gold minae for each soldier if the Ptolemaic army was successful. Following the victory, as recorded in the Raphia Decree, one-mina coins of this type were undoubtedly given. Several minor obverse contact marks. To me, this coin shows the glory of Egypt. The crown could represent the rays of the sun, which along with the flooding of the Nile, gave Egypt its great wealth that made the striking of these incredible coins possible. Minor flatness from striking at the highest point of the cornucopia. Mint State .....19000
10. THRACE, KOSON; Stater, 50-40 BC, 8.45g., BM-2, Sear-1733, RPC-1701. Obv: Consul stepping left preceded and followed by lictors holding fasces, inspired by the famous denarius of Brutus, Crawford-433/1. Probably issued for Brutus for the Civil War. This coin is struck on such a broad flan that all of the obverse and reverse beading is intact. Mint State .....1750

15. VESPASIAN, MULED AUREUS WITH REVERSE DIE OF TITUS; 69-79 AD, Aureus, Rome, 76 AD, 7.22g., RIC-844 (R2), BM-132 (pl. 3.20, same dies), C-107 corr. (Caylus, 45 Fr.), Calicó-617 (this coin). Obv: IMP CAESAR VESPASIANVS AVG Head laureate l. Rx: COS V Heifer standing r. "The heifer is unquestionably the famous statue of Myron which had been placed by Augustus in the 'Porticus

- Apollonis' and was transferred by Vespasian to the temple of Peace" (BMC, p. xxxviii). In 76 AD the mint struck this reverse type both for Vespasian as COS VII and for Titus as COS V, but our coin erroneously couples an obverse die of Vespasian with a COS V reverse die of Titus, creating a very rare mint mule in gold. We know that the coin cannot actually have been struck during VESPASIAN'S fifth consulship, 74 AD, as supposed by Cohen and BMC, (a) because the heifer is otherwise a reverse type of 76 only, (b) because left-facing portraits of Vespasian are otherwise unknown on his gold and silver coins of 74 AD but do occur in 76, and finally (c ) because, as observed by Ian Carradice, this same obverse die of Vespasian is also known combined with a proper COS VII Heifer reverse die, Santamaria 1910 Hartwig lot 1178 = M&M XV 1955 lot 736! Our coin is ex Berk, Buy or Bid Sale 127, 25 June 2002, 23, and ex Biaggi Collection, no. 311 in Silvia Hurter's unpublished photographic record of the collection, of which we have a photocopy. Old ding on obverse, otherwise, good VF.....9500

Obv: IMP CAES VESPAS AVG P M TR P IIII P P COS IIII Head laureate r. Rx: [DE] - IVDAEIS Trophy with arms piled at base. This is an extremely historic and somewhat unusual version of the Judaea Capta type. It is also a plate coin in Calico. Nearly VF.....19500
17. TITUS AS CAESAR; 70-79 AD, Aureus, Rome, 75 AD, 7.25g., RIC-781 (R2), BMC p. 32, Paris-147 pl. XXXI (same dies), C-49 (Vienna, 45 Fr.), Calico-732 (this coin). Obv: T CAESAR - IMP VESPASIAN Head laureate r. Rx: COS IIII Capricorn r. with globe, rudder, and cornucopia. A very rare type in this year, that occurs only on aurei: apparently only the third specimen known for Titus after those in Paris and Vienna, while the corresponding Capricorn aureus of Vespasian with COS VI, RIC-769, is unique in Oxford. Extremely nice portrait of Titus on a very rare aureus. Nearly EF .....14000
18. DIVA FAUSTINA I; Died 141 AD, Aureus, Rome, 7.21g., Calico-1742 (this coin), Strack-416 pl. VI (same obv. die); bust var. of BMC p. 51, C-317 (100 Fr.), and RIC- 406B. Obv: DIVA AVGVS - TA FAVSTINA Diademed, draped, veiled bust r. Rx: No legend, front view of temple showing six columns, on podium of five steps; behind columns, wall of stone blocks with door at center; in pediment, large standing figure between two smaller standing figures and two reclining figures in the angles; above, in center facing, quadriga, on corners, winged Victories, facing, holding round shields in both hands above their heads. Ex Biaggi Collection #835. Very rare with AVGVSTA not AVG in obverse legend, perhaps only the third recorded specimen: Strack-416 lists this variant only in Berlin and St. Petersburg, and it is missing from Berk photofile, CoinArchives, and Wildwinds. The stephane worn by Faustina on the obverse was overlooked by Strack and Calico, and it seems likely that the specimens reported by Cohen, BMC, and RIC also showed the stephane, though the descriptions omit it. The reverse shows the temple of Diva Faustina, later rededicated as the temple of Divus Antoninus Pius and Diva Faustina, which still stands today in the Roman Forum. VF/Nearly EF .....11000
19. SEPTIMIUS SEVERUS; 193-211 AD, Aureus, Rome, 208 AD, 7.34g., BM-376, C-793 (BM, 300 Fr.), RIC-309 (R3), Calico-2584. Obv: SEVERVS PIVS AVG Head laureate r. Rx: VOTA SVSCEPTA XX Togate, veiled Caracalla, unbearded, standing r., sacrificing from patera at tripod altar and holding roll; on other side of altar, lictor standing l. holding fasces; behind altar, fluteplayer standing front playing double flute, his l. leg visible to r. of altar. Very rare: about ten specimens of this aureus are recorded, all coming from just two reverse dies. The depiction of Caracalla (unbearded) rather than Septimius in the reverse type was probably intentional, because the vows in question were indeed those of Caracalla, namely his decennalia vows of 208 (VOTA SOLVT DEC COS III on rare aurei and denarii of Caracalla) and his simultaneous undertaking of viciennalia vows, VOTA SVSCEPTA XX, as on our aureus and on denarii of both Septimius and Caracalla. This VOTA SVSCEPTA XX type was wrongly dated to 206-7 AD by Hill, nos. 775 and 870, unfortunately followed by some later numismatists including Sear Millennium, nos. 6246, 6394, and 6910. Die links observed by C. Clay prove that the correct date of the type was in fact early 208. Near Mint State.....11000

Obv: L IVL AVR SVLP VRA ANTONINVS Laureate, draped, cuirassed bust r. Rx: ROMAE AETERNAE Roma seated l., holding Victory and spear; shield leaning against throne. Ex Ciani-Vinchon sale, May 6-7, 1955, lot 404. One of Uranius' earliest aurei, Group I, according to Baldus' classification. The Roma seated reverse type was unknown for Uranius before the appearance of this coin in 1955. A unique aureus type of this rare usurper, and with an excellent pedigree. Baldus was able to catalogue only 45 surviving aurei of Uranus Antoninus with all types, including our coin. An unpierced aureus of Uranus Antoninus in this condition would probably bring around $100,000 in today's market. Apart from the hole, lustrous and Mint State .....21500

Obv: GALLIENVS AVG Head laureate r. Rx: VBIQVE PAX Victory holding whip and reins in prancing biga r. Private Swiss purchase, 1952. Many of the small aurei and quinarii of Gallienus are paper thin and very poorly struck. While this coin is thin, it is an absolutely wonderful strike, showing an amazing amount of detail and a minimum of planchet irregularities. Mint State.....8500

Cohen 255 (300 Fr.) cites this coin only with Hercules standing left instead of right on the reverse. Pink cites the rare variant with Hercules right from J. large ears and tusks. This symbol surely relates to the victory of Antiochus III over barbarians in 269 BC. The Galatian tribes crossed the Hellespont in winter of 278/7. Some of them served briefly as mercenaries in the army of Nicomedes of Bithynia, but then they were set loose to ravage Asia Minor. The three tribes divided Asia Minor into raiding districts. The Trocmi took the Hellespontine coast, the Tolistobogii claimed Aeolis and Ionia, and the Tectosages drew the inland. Places known to have been raided or threatened/extorted include Cyzicus (278/7), the sanctuary at Didyma (277/6), Priene and Erythrae (270s), Thyatira, Laodicea on the Lycus, and perhaps Limyra or other places in Lydia. In 269 BC, Antiochus I drove the barbarians out of Asia Minor. Antiochus I was honored as Soter (Savior) by the Ionian League and at Bargylia in Caria. The "Elephant Victory" was commemorated by terracotta statuettes at Myrina and by a poet from Magnesia ad Sipylum. Obverse has surface porosity from 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock. Ex Richard Winckel Collection. The Cappadocian king Ariarathes V (ca. 163-130 BC) insulted Demetrius I of Syria by refusing to marry his sister. Demetrius therefore encouraged Ariarathes' brother Orophernes to expel the king and usurp the Cappadocian throne. Orophernes proved to be an oppressive ruler. From the monies he extorted from his subjects he deposited 400 talents with the city of Priene in Ionia. Ariarathes soon reclaimed his throne with the support of Attalus II of Pergamum. Ariarathes demanded that Priene return the 400 talents to Cappadocia. When Priene refused, Ariarathes and Attalus sacked the city in revenge. Orophernes' emission of tetradrachms first became known in 1870, when six specimens were discovered beneath the pedestal of the statue of Athena Polias at Priene. The superb quality of the portrait, one of the finest in all of Hellenistic coinage, inspired speculation that the tetradrachms were actually minted in Priene. A foreign origin for Orophernes' tetradrachms is certainly plausible, since the Cappadocian kingdom had not yet inaugurated the regular production of silver coinage and obviously lacked the necessary technical expertise. However it is possible that Orophernes commissioned his portrait die from an eminent artist and imported workmen to strike the tetradrachms in Cappadocia. This coin, which is a plate coin in the 100 Greatest Ancient Coins, is almost mythical for its importance and rarity. It has long been considered by scholars and connoisseurs as being the greatest of all Hellenistic portraits. In addition to that, only about ten examples exist with one of them being broken and only two including this one in private hands. Slight "ghosting" before face on obverse. Lightly toned. Obv: C ANTONIVS M F PROCOS Draped bust of Genius of Macedonia r., wearing Macedonian cap. Rx: PONTIFEX Emblems of pontificate: two ladies and ax. Caius Antonius, younger brother of Mark Antony, was made praetor and pontifex in 44 BC through Julius Caesar's influence. In 43 BC he tried to occupy the province of Macedonia which the Senate had voted to him but then taken away. Brutus, however, opposed him, besieged him at Apollonia in Illyricum, captured him, and, early in 42, put him to death to avenge the murder of Cicero by the Triumvir. Thus Caius was closely connected with the great men and momentous events of the years 44-42 BC. According to Gruuber in BMCRR II p. 471 note and Sear, this very rare denarius, whose obverse refers to the province that Caius was trying to occupy, may have been struck in Apollonia during the siege by Brutus. A classic rarity of the Imperatorial series. Ex Munzhandlung Basel Ex UBS, Auction 78, 9-10 Sept 2008, lot #1122, Gillardi Collection. This is one of the rarest denarii in the Imperatorial series. The dies are crudely cut, typical of a traveling military mint, but the portrait is struck in high relief and is extremely sharp. It can be reasonably surmised that the Genius of Macedonia bears the features of Caius Antonius, a "disguised" portrait typical of the ego-driven Imperatorial years. The interpretation of the upper figure on the reverse is uncertain; it may well be a male rather than a female. Very rare type, probably fewer than ten specimens known in solid silver. Giard, Paris catalogue, pp. 20-21, listed seven specimens, from three obverse and two reverse dies, but only two of those specimens were of solid silver, and the other five plated. 247. ROMAN NAIL: ca. 1st cent. A.D. Each of these nails is hand made. They were painstakingly produced by the Romans within 45 years of the crucifixion, which most likely occurred in 33 A.D. The Romans had a specific way of producing nails. These nails, had they not been discovered in an archeological context could not have been distinguished from the nails used in Judea at that fateful time. These Roman nails were discovered in 1961 by Professor Richmond who was excavating at the site of the fortress known as Inchtuthil. The nails were sent to Julius Agricula by 78 A.D. at the latest to aid him in the Roman war against the Caledonians in Scotland. The Roman general, Julius Agricula, commanded one of only 27 Roman legions, the XX, which later was responsible for building Hadrian's Wall. The fortress housed 5500 men who were successful in defeating the fierce Caledonians who used immense swords and small shields made of iron as their primary weapons. In 84 A.D., because of jealousy by the Roman emperor Domitian and trouble with the German tribes, Agricula was recalled to Rome, the legion dispatched to Germany and the fortress at Inchtuthil was ordered dismantled and moved to Germany. Because of some transport problems 750,000 of the nails had to be buried on site to keep them from the Caledonians who valued iron more than silver or gold. The Romans were so successful that the nails remained undetected for 1900 years. The bulk of the nails are in the national museum of Scotland. Those in our possession were sent for analyses and later exported to us from the United Kingdom with an official permit naming these as nails of Inchtuthil. These are the only nails from antiquity that can be exactly dated. L. approximately 2-3" .....30 each or 3 for $75. Larger nails $150 each
